Who am I?

I am a graphic designer eager to start my new career. I aim to create functional and unique designs and interfaces. Through looking at new ways of approaching a problem I am able to create innovative and effective designs.

Over the past 3 years I have gained experience working independently and with others on a variety of projects. This experience has benefited my communication and organization skills while working to complete a project by the designated deadlines.

I have a comprehensive understanding of core graphic design principles and their application across a variety of platforms, along with the roles they play through the production process.
